The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 2, 3, 7, & 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dalton 4,265,739 (newly cited).

Dalton shows an impeller (figure 3) having a hub and resilient arms, integrally molded of Neoprene (column 4, lines 48-53), the hub having means 68 to receive a motor shaft. Although Dalton does not disclose that this impeller is used with a paintball loader, it includes all features claimed and could be used for this purpose with no structural change.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The references show devices having a hub and flexible arms.

Johnson 4,697,721 and Stufflebeam 5,799,598 show impellers with flexible arms used to agitate items, but there is no suggestion that these would be suitable for a paint ball hopper.
